ILLiad & Electronic Delivery

Since late December, if you've ordered an article via ILLiad (link removed), the Library's Interlibrary Loan service, you were in for a pleasant surprise...Electronic Delivery! (link removed)

Articles are delivered as an PDF (link removed), which can then be saved or printed by the requestor. Posted articles are only available for 30 days and then are automatically deleted from the server.

The ILL staff is changing everyone's preferred delivery method to electronic as they receive requests, but users can change their own by using the "Change User Information" link in the menu on the left hand side of the ILLiad Main Menu. Please let us know if you would rather receive a print copy.

There are still some materials that will be delivered in print. Books are an obvious one, but also materials that require a cash payment. Additionally, due to some publisher restrictions there are some titles that will require us to deliver as print.

For assistance with ILLiad or any of the Libraries' resources, please contact a Reference Librarian (link removed) at the Isché Library (504) 568-6102 / (504) 568-8339, or at the Dental Library (link removed) (504) 941-8158.

INNOPAC Course Reserves

Last Fall, the Library launched our Course Reserves module in INNOPAC (link removed), the Library's online catalog. Through the Course Reserves feature patrons can identify which of their course books are available via the Library by searching a course name or professor. To search the Course Reserves module, access INNOPAC from the library's web page, then select Items in the New Orleans Libraries \(Ische & Dental\) (link removed) where the Course Reserve menu is located:

- Choose a Library Catalog
 - Items in the New Orleans Libraries \(Ische & Dental\)
 - Items in the Shreveport Library
 - Items in the Shreveport & Conway Libraries
 - View Entire Collection

You may search for library materials using the following:

- Author
- Title
- Subject
- Words in titles, series, subjects and notes
- Author/Title
- List of Journals
- NLM Call Number
- Other Call Numbers

Course Reserves:

- by Professor
- by Course Name/Number

- Resource Name
- Change Library Catalog
- Other Libraries via Z39.50

Here are some tips:

- Course names are entered 2 ways:
 - Course number and title: ex. BIOS 6102 - Biostatistical methods II
 - Course name: ex. Biostatistical methods II
- The course numbers are entered using the standard school or program prefixes (ex. BIOS - Biostatistics; NURS - Nursing; SPM - Science and practice of medicine). If you are unsure of the correct prefix for your course check your class syllabus, schedule or the LSUHSC 2010/2011 Catalog/Bulletin (link removed).
- Searching the first letter(s) of a course or professor will retrieve all results starting with that letter; likewise, searching a course prefix will retrieve all courses listed for that program.

Images - Another Way to Search NCBI

Edit July 2011 - NCBI has dropped the Image database; it has been folded back into PubMedCentral.

The brand new NCBI (link removed) Images (link removed) database comprises approximately 3 million images from biomedical literature deposited in full-text resources at the NCBI. What does that mean for researchers? That articles indexed in PubMed Central (link removed) (PMC), the U.S. National Institutes of Health (NIH) free digital archive of biomedical and life sciences journal literature, are tagged if they have an image in the full-text of the article. This is especially helpful when looking for gene mapping and mutations.

In PubMed (link removed), use the pull down Search menu and select Images. Search the same as you would in PubMed. The images will be displayed next to the tag. Link to the citation in PubMed or go directly to the full text of the article.

For other image collections, check out the list of Image Collections (link removed) in the online resource section of the Library's webpage. For assistance with NCBI Images or any of the Libraries' resources, please contact a Reference Librarian (link removed) at the Isché Library (504) 568-6102 / (504) 568-8339, or at the Dental Library (link removed) (504)
