What do you hope the Staff Senate accomplishes and why are you a Senator?

I am eager to represent the staff of the School of Public Health on the Staff Senate and to serve as a strong supportive voice for my colleagues. It is truly an honor to represent a team whose dedication and contributions are vital to the school's continued success. Through my leadership skills, I strive to foster a collaborative, inclusive, and positive work environment where every staff member feels valued and heard. I am committed to advocating for our staff by sharing our ideas, insights, and achievements with the Senate, while also ensuring that important University-wide information is communicated effectively back to our team. By promoting open communication and mutual respect, I hope to help create an even stronger workplace and contribute to making the University a better place for all employees to thrive.

Why do you enjoy working at LSUHSC?

I truly enjoy working at LSUHSC and value the opportunity to collaborate with the dedicated faculty, staff, and students of the School of Public Health. Each day brings new challenges and rewards as I work to resolve IT issues and support the school's mission, which I find both dynamic and fulfilling. I take great pride in using my skills to make the work of our faculty and staff more efficient and seamless, allowing them to focus on their important contributions.

As a childhood cancer survivor, I feel a deeply personal connection to my role, especially as the school is actively involved in cancer prevention and research. This connection makes my work even more meaningful and inspires me every day. I am proud to be part of LSUHSC and to work alongside such distinguished faculty and staff who are committed to improving the health and well-being of our community and making it a safer place to live.
